Schedule IP address change

Randomly change IP address every Minutes Seconds Save

 This option will change your IP address randomly at set intervals. Your connection will be disconnected for a short period of time during the IP address change. This option is therefore not recommended if you wish to maintain an established connection at all times.

IP address check

IP address checker website: Verify IP address

 Third-party IP address checker websites are a good way to verify your current IP address and location. Please note that we list our servers by physical datacenter location and not by the WHOIS address. Some server providers may list their office address as the IP address WHOIS contact which can be in a different location than the datacenter (where the servers are physically located).
